G'day Land carers,

Spring has felt a little more like winter this year with the rain and cold, but that hasn't stopped our Landcare community from getting out and about. From the Night Stalk to tree planting and planning, there's plenty to share in this edition, and hopefully some warmer days on the way!

Night Stalk Recap

On Friday 19th September we gathered at Titanga Homestead in Lismore for our annual Night Stalk. The evening began with a creative kids' activity led by Tania with the Nature Bus, where children made Australian animals from clay, with some wonderfully imaginative results.

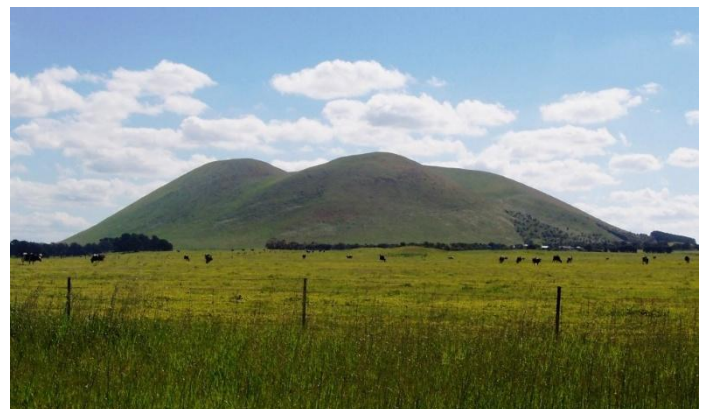

Although the rain rolled in, spirits stayed high as families huddled together and embraced the elements. After sharing a warm meal, ecologist Craig Grabham introduced us to animal calls, night vision equipment, and guided a walk to explore the local wildlife. While the weather limited what we saw, it was still a fun and memorable evening.

Most importantly, the Night Stalk brought people together – a chance to step away from the usual routine, enjoy nature play, and connect as a community.

Victorian Trees on Farms - Incubator Workshop

Are you a landholder interested in integrating more trees into your farming system? The Victorian Trees on Farms (VToF) Program is offering a FREE incubator workshop to help you develop strong project applications and access funding support.

The one-day workshop, delivered by PF Olsen, provides both pre- and post-support to help you plan your project and apply for the Victorian Trees on Farms grant program. Participants will gain skills, build networks, and receive guidance from industry specialists to improve project quality and confidence when growing trees on farms.

The VToF program supports:

- Farm forestry plantings for timber production using known timber species – up to $4,000 per hectare (3-20 ha).
- Integrated environmental plantings using a mix of native species – up to $2,000 per hectare (5-20 ha).

This is a great opportunity to connect with like-minded landholders, learn from experts, and develop a strong project plan that benefits both your farm and the environment.
